

BOX INSPIRATION #10

Retail Unit Containers

Welcome to the 10th issue of Box Inspiration, your weekly dose of fresh container conversion ideas. This week we are talking about retail unit and pop up shop containers.

The basic modular design and robust structure of shipping containers are making them a popular building material choice with many people. One of the most common enquiries of this type we receive is converting a container into retail space, either as a permanent structure or as the increasingly popular 'pop-up shop'. View some of our retail case studies below.
